

GOVERNOR OF WEST VIRGINIA IN URGENT APPEAL TO PRESIDENT FOR AID AS NEW MINING WAR MENACES

On the showing of a photograph, however, according to this story, the members found Magistrate Fulton Mitchell and four others eating dinner with two machine guns, rifles, pistols and two men.

REMOVAL CASE HEARING ON AT BOWBELLS

Testimony Taken in Case of Men Governor Removed

Minot, N. D., Aug. 29.—The hearing in the removal proceedings against County Commissioners John O. Grubb and H. A. Kirkelle of Burke county will be held this afternoon at Bowbells before Attorney H. H. Cooper of Kenmare who has been appointed special commissioner by Governor Lynn J. Frazier to take the testimony.

The removal proceedings against the two commissioners and their suspension from office by Governor Frazier gave the league faction in Burke county control of the county board. Two league members were immediately appointed to the vacancies created by the chief executive's removal of the two men.

The proceedings are further developments in the fight for county funds which is being waged by county officials, all league members since J. R. Jensen, the new county treasurer assumed office. Lawrence Jensen, the retiring county treasurer, deposited $166,000 in Burke county banks on office he instituted an action seeking to recover this money from the banks and Judge John C. Lowe last week handed down a decision ordering the money returned. The former county treasurer and banks are appealing the decision to the supreme court.

Larsen has been arrested on a criminal charge growing out of his action in so depositing the money in county banks. He waived his preliminary hearing and is out on bonds pending trial in the district court.

BATTLE FOUGHT IN MINE AREA, IT IS FEARED

State Authorities Anxiously Await Word of Outcome of Engagement

Charleston, W. Va., Aug. 29.—State authorities early today anxiously awaited advices from the eastern part of Logan county. Somewhere in that district Adjutant-General Charnot, together with A. C. Porter, a member of the West Virginia United Mine Workers executive board and a personal representative of C. F. Keeney, president of District No. 17, were doing missionary work following yesterday's report to Governor E. T. Morgan that state police and deputy sheriffs on one side and unidentified armed men on the other had fought an engagement in Beach Creek near the Logan-Boone county line.

Immediately after receipt yesterday of a report from Capt. J. R. Brooks, commanding state troopers in that district, stating that the engagement had not been without casualties Governor Morgan hurriedly called Mr. Keeney into conference.

GERMANY IS SELLING OFF HER WAR DOGS

Berlin, Aug. 29.—The German government is selling off its war dogs. It has a large number of wounded and disabled canines for sale and has offered them to the public at a price to be fixed by a valuation commission composed of veterinarians.

Many of the dogs are said to be too old for war work and others have been sick so long that the army officials have despaired of their ever being able to engage in active service again should such service be required.

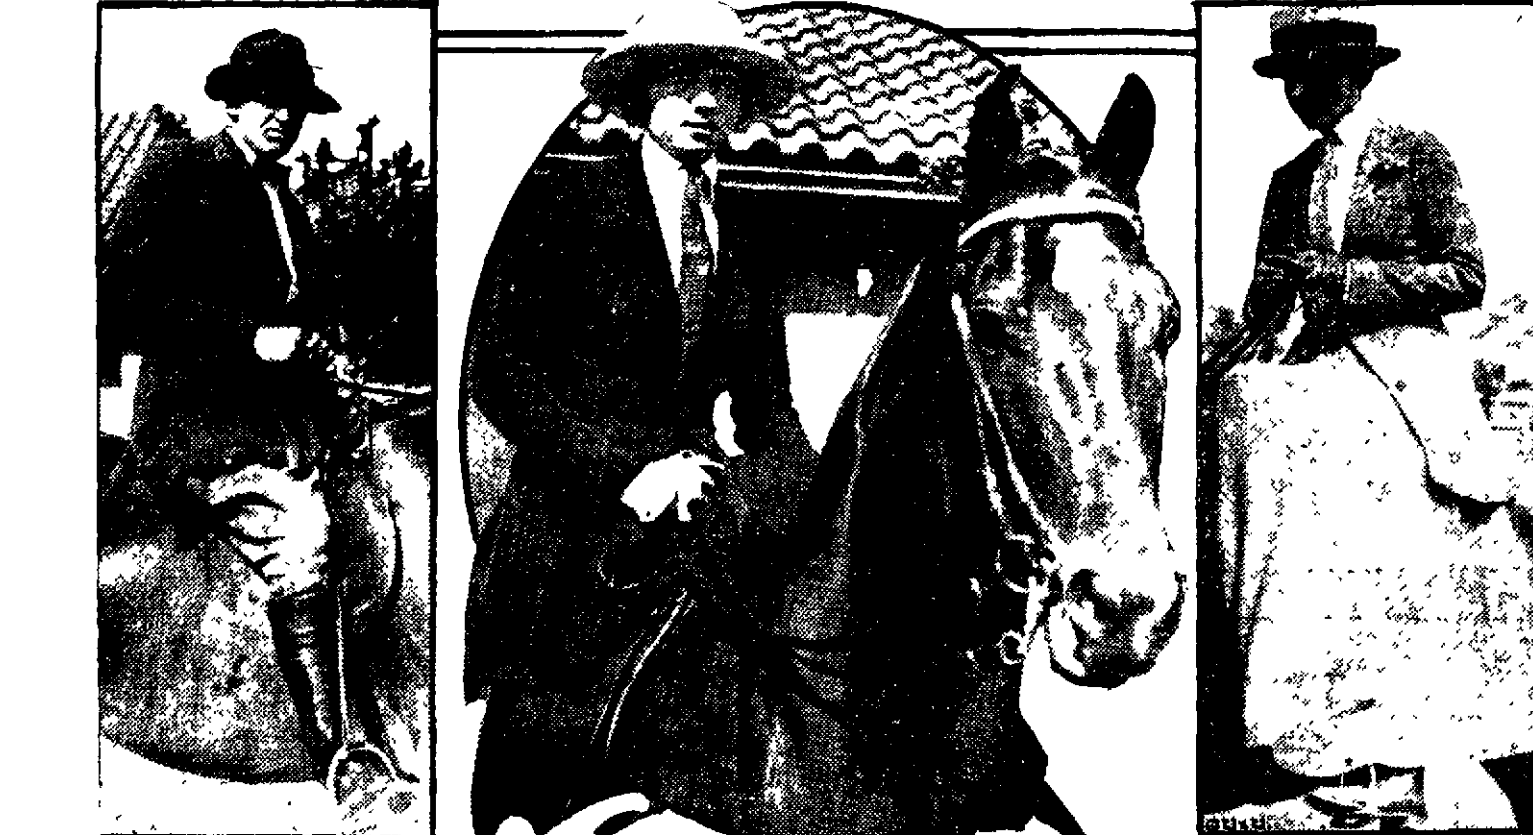

TWO THEATERS ARE BOMBED

Chicago, Aug. 29.—The explosion of time bombs at two Chicago burlesque theaters, the Columbia and the Star and Garter, was declared to be part of a conspiracy to terrorize the owners into the abandonment of their recently announced "open shop" policy by the police.

The explosions took place almost simultaneously and shook the entire business district shortly after midnight. Neither theater had opened for the season, and the damage was small as the explosives in each case were placed just inside the stage entrance. The force of the explosion shattered many windows and terrorized hundreds of persons in nearby hotels.

"MARRY POOR MAN AND MARRY FOR LOVE," SAYS HEIRESS WHO

GEORGE O. MILES, THE GROOM WHO WON EDITH BEAVOR WEBB (CENTER) FOR HIS BRIDE AND HER SISTER, WHO MARRIED A MOUNTED POLICEMAN.

Mrs. Edith Beavor Webb Miles Is Happy Cooking And Doing Dishes

BY ROY GIBBONS
(Copyright 1921 by Newspaper Enterprise)

Lake Forest, Ill., Aug. 29.—"Give me a poor man any day for a husband. They're the only ones who can appreciate a woman. Rich husbands too often turn out to be disasters."

Thus Miss Edith Beavor Webb, the daughter of a New York millionaire, explained why she married George O. Miles, a groom and former jockey. They succeeded in keeping their marriage, June 14, a secret for more than two months.

They are living on the estate of Benjamin Behr, who employs Miles as overseer of the stables and trainer of blooded horses.

Forgiving Father
They have been forgiven by the bride's father, J. Beavor Webb, and he has invited them to cruise with him on his yacht this winter. This is the second time Webb has been called upon to do the forgiving act, for his eldest daughter, Louise, a year ago started eastern society by marrying Thomas J. Leonard, a New York mounted policeman.

For the first time since their marriage the Mileses talked fully and freely to me of their romance and their plans, when I visited them at their cottage, hidden behind a corn field and flanked by stables.

"I should worry what anyone thinks or says about my marriage," said the bride, right off the bat. "I want love—not money, or titles, or anything else. And George loves me a whole lot."

"I have my own home to take care of, and dishes to wash, and things to cook, and a husband who can appreciate a good meal. Say, I'd rather bake a good pie than wear a coronet!"

Miles a Good Shot
At this juncture Miles himself appeared from the direction of the stables. He wore a riding outfit and carried a rifle in his hands.

"Another reporter?" he greeted me. "Please let me handle him, dearie." Mrs. Miles retired into the cottage Miles lifted the rifle.

"Lots of rats in the barn," he said, tapping the gun. "Just killed seven." Pause, while he sized me up. Then, "I suppose you want to know how I got her?"

I pleaded guilty.
"Well, it was like this. I'm fond of horses, and so is my wife. I've followed them ever since I've been a kid. Miss Webb and I met a year and a half ago at a horse show down east. Love at first sight."

"It was love at first sight. We became engaged—and corresponded—and got married. Simple enough, eh?" Miles smiled.

BEST CROP IN YEARS IN NORTHWESTERN PART OF STATE

Minot, N. D., Aug. 28.—That northwestern North Dakota is harvesting a larger crop than it has for the past several years and the returns will be sufficient for many farmers to liquidate their debts, although not sufficient to warrant a lively revival in business seems to be the general view of bankers of this section of North Dakota, as stated in requested interviews on crop yields and business prospects in their respective sections.

All parts of northwestern North Dakota, with one or two exceptions, report larger wheat yields than in 1920 and in the majority of districts the yield is larger than it has been since 1916. In some localities where prospects were excellent a month ago less optimistic statements are being made by bankers and business men. The damage caused at the eleventh hour by rust and grasshoppers is believed to account for this.

The situation would be much better in this section of the state if prices of grain and other farm products would show signs of improvement, a number of bankers point out.

Wheat Receipts
Over 1,000 Cars
Early Harvest Causes Break
in August Records

Minneapolis, Aug. 29.—A million and a half dollars' worth of wheat arrived in Minneapolis today. Receipts today amounted to 1,013 cars, a figure which, it is believed by grain men, will be recorded as the "peak" of the incoming grain movement this season. Today's receipts will amount to $1,327,030 bushels and at an average value of $1.15 a bushel would be worth $1,526,084.

In normal years the receipts of wheat in Minneapolis rarely pass the 1,000 car mark until early in September. The harvest, however, was one to two weeks ahead of normal.

TRIES TO RESCUE HIS PARENTS

MORRIS GEST
UPON AGENT MORRIS GEST'S
BIG DRAMA

Theatrical Producer Himself
Stars in Story of Filial Devotion

BY ALICE ROHE.
New York, Aug. 29.—What is the most dramatic thing Morris Gest has ever done?

Nine out of ten will answer "On Chin Chow or 'Mella or 'Aphrodite." But his greatest drama—in which the New York producer is himself the hero—is not for the public. On this he has lavished expenditures with a more prodigal hand than on any of his stage productions.

It is the drama of a son's search for his parents. For three years and a half Morris Gest has been struggling to rescue his father and mother from Russia. Four times he has crossed the ocean in his efforts to reach them.

Terror, hunger, sickness, want, were the lot of the parents—just over the line. Wealth, comfort, health and happiness were the gifts of the son, only a few miles away, had to offer them. For Gest, on his last trip, was with-in 20 miles of them.

Brother Escapes
Now Gest has received word that his brother with his wife and child, had escaped and were in Warsaw. The parents were still in Odessa. The cable added that despite much money, Gest had forwarded, his relatives were penniless.

"I can't give up hope," says Gest. "I am encouraged that father and mother are in Odessa and I have established some communication. But you can't imagine what it is to have plenty and know that the mother who brought you into the world and cared for you as a child, is suffering, or that the father who started you out on life with his blessing, is starving."

Time Brings Changes
Fifteen years ago Morris Gest was one of the world's largest theatrical producers and son-in-law of David Belasco, was just beginning to get a foothold on the ladder of fame.

All through his career his great devotion to his parents has been a dominant trait. "I had planned to bring them to this country, but then the war came," he says. "When we leave our home to start on life we never know where Destiny is going to lead us."

"I have found that the man or woman who keeps the memory of his mother and father alive in his heart travels the safest."

"There's one big success I want to nullify—that's the thing I'd risk my last dollar on. I want to see my mother and father enjoying life in America."

HARDING WILL INQUIRE INTO UNEMPLOYMENT

Conference to be Called in Washington Next Month, Hoover Announces

Washington, Aug. 29.—President Harding will call a national conference, representative of the whole country, to meet here next month to inquire into the unemployment problem.

Announcement of the president's intention was made by Secretary Hoover, who was asked to formulate plans for the gathering. These, he said, would be ready for the president within ten days.

"The object of the conference," Mr. Hoover said, "will be to inquire into the volume of needed employment, the distribution of unemployment, to make recommendations as to measures that can properly be taken in coordinated speeding up of employment by industries and public bodies during the next winter, and, in addition, a broad study of economic measures desirable to ameliorate the unemployment situation and give impulse to the recovery of business and commerce to normal."

While it has been determined to keep the number at the conference as small as possible, he said, so that the work may be done with expedition, it is intended to invite representatives of the greater groups of industries and thought, and the cooperation of national organizations will be sought in their selection.

INTEREST RATE OF POSTAL BANK TO BE BOOSTED

Recommendations Made For Increase From Two to Three Per Cent

Washington, Aug. 29.—Recommendations that the interest rate on postal savings be increased from two to three per cent and that the maximum allowed a depositor be raised to $3,000, were agreed upon by the bankers, federal reserve board members and government officials who joined with the postoffice department to investigate the postal savings policy, Postmaster General Hays said today.

A fingerprint system of identification for illiterate depositors also would be established. The object of the enlarged deposit limit, Mr. Hays reiterated, was not to put the government in competition with private savings banks, but to create new depositors among groups of the population not yet educated to trust of private financial establishments.

LIQUIDATION IN NORTHWEST TO BE PARTIAL

Minneapolis, Aug. 29.—Liquidation of financial obligations in the Northwest will be only partial and localized this year, owing to the spotted crop conditions according to the August crop review made public today by Chairman John H. Rich of the Ninth district federal reserve bank.

TRIBUNE WANTS—FOR RESULTS

Cornell's "Oatmeal" finish is even lovelier than I anticipated!

PANELING a room with Cornell-Wood-Board is infinitely cleaner and quicker than lathing and plastering and the results are indeed superb! Were it not for Cornell Panels I should have had to endure a mass of work for days, and then wait weeks perhaps for plaster to dry out.

Of course I might have used some other wallboard, but I found no surface half so attractive as Cornell's "Oatmeal" finish. My lumberman says that Cornell comes all ready primed—"Mill-Primed" he calls it—so I can have it painted just the tint I want without expense for a priming coat.

The carpenter also recommended Cornell-Wood-Board, telling me that its "Triple-Sure" gives triple protection against moisture, expansion and contraction.

I can just fairly see my husband's amazement when he returns this evening and finds another beautiful room in the house—added since breakfast! Send for sample and color-book 114-C of "Cornell Interiors" at once.

STARTS LOWER.
Chicago, Aug. 30.—The start was one-half to one cent lower on the wheat market today. Commission house selling found the market rather poorly supported and helped the decline. At the end of the first hour prices were one-quarter to a half cent below the opening.
There was limited support at times but there was considerable selling of futures here when Winnipeg premiums showed two cents lower. May in this market dropping to a discount under Chicago on a basis of exchange. The close was weak with a drop of 1 to 1 1-2 cents under the opening.

GREAT CHANGES IN AUTOMOBILES

Few persons realize what radical changes have come over the automobile since the days when the youngster yelled 'get a horse'.

Here we have the 'one finger' of fifteen years ago, with its funny steering handle and the exposed radiator, as compared to the modern speed wagon.

PLAIN HINTS TO FOIL CAR THIEF

Cleveland Auto Distributor Gives Some Practical Suggestions to Owners.

REMOVE DISTRIBUTOR ROTOR
Unique and Effective Scheme is to Have Blind Switch in Ignition System—Other Methods to Discourage Robbers.

Some ingenious yet simple ways to foil the automobile thief, who often tinkering with motorcars, are suggested by Emil C. Hertz, a Cleveland automobile distributor.

Mr. Hertz's first suggestion is to remove the distributor rotor. Without this rotor there can be no spark, he says, and without the spark no gasoline motor will run. The rotor is one of the easiest things to get at, so its removal by the car owner when he leaves his vehicle parked in some street is all the easier.

As there are several different kinds of rotors, it is all the more difficult for the thief, since he would have to carry almost every type to have the correct one available when needed. Even though half of all the automobile thieves were equipped with complete sets of rotors, the car stealing hazard would be reduced 50 per cent.

Unique and Effective Scheme.
Perhaps the most unique and effective scheme to protect a car, continued Mr. Hertz, is to have a blind switch in some concealed part of the main ignition system. Probably nine out of ten thieves would be utterly baffled if the circuit were broken in this way because it is a device they would least expect. They would naturally look for the commoner methods of disabling cars but there is no standard way available to the thief for locating the trouble caused by a blind switch.

Another simple, though less effectual way to baffle the amateurish thief is to disconnect the wire at the coil, in connection with the generator. In many makes of cars there is only one wire exposed on the coil and it may be detached at either end with little trouble.

There is still another way to discourage the motor car thief and that is to cross the spark plug wires to save the fourth and fifth or the fifth and sixth cylinders of a "six". This crossing of the wires causes back firing and resultant heavy artillery when the engine is started, it often causes the less hardened thief to flee in dismay, asserts Mr. Hertz.

Some car owners, however, would not approve of this method of thwarting the thief because of the danger of blowing off the muffler of the car's mechanism.

Keep Record of Numbers.
Finally, be sure that you record the numbers of your motor car in a memorandum book and keep the book where you can always lay your hands upon it. advises Mr. Hertz, who cites an instance of a car which was stolen in Boston, Mass., and recovered a identified four months later by one of the original tires.

CURE FOR RECKLESS DRIVERS
Where Many Accidents Have Occurred Signs Bear Inscription Warning Drivers.

As a warning to reckless drivers, the board of trade of Goshen, N. Y., has erected large signs on each side of the Otterkill bridge, where many accidents have occurred. The signs bear the following inscription: "Private cemetery across the bridge for reckless drivers."

DETERMINING SIDES OF CAR
Always Face in Same Direction Machine is Headed—it is Wrong to Stand Facing It

AUTOMOBILE VISE IS USEFUL FOR REPAIRS
Found Mighty Convenient While Touring in Country.
Device Shown in Illustration for Holding Small Parts of Car While Working on Them—Kept Out of Sight by Hood.

Many occasions arise on an automobile tour when a light, fixed vise would be highly convenient. A fixture for holding small parts, while working on them, is shown attached to the engine by the cylinder-head bolts and concealed by the hood.

Two pieces of 3-8 inch machine steel, or iron, are bent and formed as indicated, holes being drilled in the end to fit over the cylinder studs. If these studs are of sufficient length, no alteration will be needed, but it will probably be found, in most cases at least, that the studs will be too short and that longer ones must be provided.

The movable section of the vise has two large fitting into corresponding slots in the fixed part. The screw is made from any suitable 1/2-inch material, with a bent handle and a 1/2-inch nut behind the movable jaw.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.

TO TIGHTEN LOOSE VIBRATOR
When Screws Holding Brass Jackets Become Worn it is Good Plan to Use Metal Band.

In case the screws that hold the small brass jackets to the vibrator become worn so that they do not grip any more do not try to remedy the trouble by using longer screws, as this will probably injure the windings of the coil and ruin the vibrator. The better plan is to put a metal band clear around the box and attach it to the dash with small bolts.

AUTOMOBILE NEWS

Gasoline costs $1.40 a gallon in Syria

Western Canada now has one automobile for every fifteen persons.

In England, motorists pay a license of one pound per horsepower—nearly $200 for a 45-horsepower car.

The wheels of the car are in alignment if the tires wear uniformly and the round, U shape originally given the treads.

The average price of gasoline in France at present represents about $1.10 a gallon and in England it averages about 75 cents.

In spite of the British duty of 33 per cent and the French 45 per cent American-made automobiles are being shipped to European countries in large numbers.

The 1921-22 automobile tires manufactured during 1920 piled up top of one another would reach to a height of 274 miles, a state almost as great as across the continent.

Automobile accidents are found to be caused by a number of the varying factors of the road and the state of the car, and which lead to the confusion of drivers in into state traffic.

As a warning to reckless drivers, the board of trade of Goshen, N. Y., has erected large signs on each side of the Otterkill bridge, where many accidents have occurred. The signs bear the following inscription: "Private cemetery across the bridge for reckless drivers."

Always Face in Same Direction Machine is Headed—it is Wrong to Stand Facing It

BUCKSKIN TUNIC, PRIZED INDIAN RELIC, IS GIVEN TO STATE HISTORICAL SOCIETY

The State Historical Society has just received a prized relic from the Arkansas Indians. It is a buckskin tunic, a relic of the time of the Arkansas Indians. The tunic was found in the Arkansas Indians' camp at the mouth of the Arkansas river. It was found by a hunter named John Smith. The tunic was made of buckskin and was decorated with various designs. It was a very fine specimen of the work of the Arkansas Indians. The tunic was given to the State Historical Society by John Smith. The tunic is now in the collection of the State Historical Society.

Willcox is now in his eighty-fifth year but is still very active.
